LEGAL POSITIONS

STAFF ATTORNEY
NATIONAL VETERANS LEGAL SERVICES PROGRAM

The National Veterans Legal Services Program (NVLSP) is a high-impact national veterans service organization based in Washington DC. Our mission is to ensure that the government delivers to our nation's 22 million veterans and active-duty personnel the benefits to which they are entitled due to the disabilities that resulted from their military service. NVLSP's pro bono program, Lawyers Serving Warriors® ("LSW"), provides free legal representation, through a nationwide pro bono network of private law firms and corporate legal departments, to disabled active-duty personnel and veterans and their families.

NVLSP seeks a full-time staff attorney for its LSW project, which assists veterans with medical retirement and discharge upgrades.

A military medical retirement confers a monthly monetary benefit as well as military medical care (called Tricare) upon retirement for the Service member, his or her spouse, and the Service member's children while they remain dependents. This health insurance offers comprehensive health care, including prescription drugs, in civilian health care networks wherever the veteran resides. A military medical retirement is conferred by the Department of Defense and is totally distinct from VA benefits.

LSW's discharge upgrade program helps veterans apply to upgrade their characterization of service from "Other Than Honorable" (OTH) to a more favorable characterization such as Honorable. The discharge upgrade may help veterans receive VA benefits and health care, improve employment opportunities, and restore reputation and self-esteem. Many clients have Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), traumatic brain injuries (TBI), or other mental health conditions that are related to military service, including resulting from Military Sexual Trauma (MST).

The attorney will review veterans' medical and personnel files to determine merit for pro bono placement, write screening memos for meritorious cases, train pro bono lawyers, mentor cases placed with pro bono law firms, and conduct outreach to veterans at clinics.

NVLSP will consider applicants who wish to work remotely.

Qualifications and Experience:

J.D.; excellent research and writing skills; experience with veterans law and/or military service appreciated.

Opening/Closing Date:

Available immediately; closes when filled. NVLSP has a generous benefits program, with health and pension benefits provided.

Applications:

A cover letter, resume, writing sample, and a list of three references should be e-mailed to Rochelle Bobroff, Director of Pro Bono, at rochelle@nvlsp.org.

All applications will be reviewed in confidence.

NVLSP is an equal opportunity employer.

BILINGUAL IMMIGRATION LITIGATOR/ADVOCATE LEGAL AID JUSTICE CENTER

About the Legal Aid Justice Center:

The Legal Aid Justice Center is a nationally recognized nonprofit organization that partners with communities and clients to achieve justice by dismantling the systems that create and perpetuate poverty. Justice means racial justice, economic justice, and social justice. From its offices in Charlottesville, Richmond, Petersburg, and Falls Church, LAJC is a fierce advocate for low-income clients and communities in Virginia. Just in the past year, we secured an injunction slashing the number of immigrants detained by ICE at the largest detention center in the MidAtlantic; brought a class action challenging ICE detention to the U.S. Supreme Court; passed laws preventing the Virginia DMV from providing driver information to ICE and expanding state financial aid to undocumented students; won the nation's first COVID-specific, statewide, and enforceable workplace safety standards; and decriminalized school-based disorderly conduct, which was a leading contributor to the school-to-prison pipeline, especially for Black girls. Founded in 1967, LAJC provides services under four key program areas: Civil Rights & Racial Justice, Economic Justice, Youth Justice, and Immigrant Advocacy. LAJC boldly tackles issues of systemic injustice and aims to raise public and policymaker awareness of some of the most pressing challenges facing low-income Virginia residents. For more information, visit www.justice4all.org.

About the Immigrant Advocacy Program:

LAJC's Immigrant Advocacy Program supports low-income immigrants in their efforts to find justice and fair treatment. In addition to representing clients with individual legal issues, we promote systemic reforms to reduce the abuse and exploitation of immigrants, and advocate for state and local policies that protect immigrant communities from aggressive immigration enforcement and promote their wellbeing. Current campaigns include challenges to ICE detention, resisting family separation in all its different forms, and our De-ICE Virginia campaign seeking to sever cooperation between state and local government and federal immigration enforcement.

About the Position:

LAJC seeks a bilingual immigration litigator/advocate for our Falls Church office. The attorney will represent individual clients in creative forms of removal defense, with a special focus on individuals with prior removal orders or otherwise at imminent risk of deportation, and individual and systemic challenges to immigration detention and ICE enforcement. The attorney will also partner with community organizers (both LAJC staff and other community organizations) to support local and statewide policy advocacy efforts challenging immigration detention, the jail-to-deportation pipeline, and state entanglement in federal immigration enforcement. The attorney will also manage an immigration advice clinic in Arlington County, and hold regular office hours and coordinate know-your-rights presentations in English and Spanish at community centers that serve immigrant communities.

Required Qualifications:

- Strong commitment to immigrants' rights;
- Experience working directly with immigrant community members;
- Prior experience with immigration litigation, whether professionally or through a law school clinic;
- A sufficient level of Spanish fluency to interview and counsel clients in Spanish without the assistance of an interpreter;
- Membership in the Virginia bar, confirmed eligibility to waive in, or willingness to sit for the February 2022 Virginia bar (LAJC provides bar study leave and application fees); and
- An ability to multi-task and balance a variety of responsibilities.

Location: Falls Church, Virginia

Application Deadline: We accept applications on a rolling basis and encourage candidates to apply as soon as possible.

Salary: Salary range is $61,600 to $78,400 based on years of relevant experience and LAJC's formal salary scale.

Benefits:

- Generous leave
- Flexible hours and hybrid in-office/work-from-home schedule
- Excellent health, dental, and optical insurance
- 403(b) retirement plan
- Personal budget for professional development
- Full mileage reimbursement at IRS rates
- Law school loan repayment assistance and full reimbursement for VA bar and CLE expenses

Application Instructions:

Email a cover letter, resume, legal or advocacy writing sample, and three references to Simon Sandoval-Moshenberg at [hiring@justice4all.org](mailto: hiring@justice4all.org). POLICY DIRECTOR JUSTICE IN MOTION

About Justice in Motion:

Justice in Motion protects migrant rights by ensuring justice across borders. In the face of overwhelming legal and practical barriers, many migrants who have suffered exploitation or abuse at the hands of employers or government officials give up their rights after leaving the United States. Other migrants who flee abuse, violence, and persecution are unable to remain in safety due to lack of evidence to support their claims. These migrants need "portable justice" - the right and ability to access justice across borders. Justice in Motion is dedicated to ensuring portable justice through legal, educational, and policy initiatives in the U.S., Canada, Mexico, and Central America. Essential to this transnational model is our Defender Network, a unique partnership of on-the-ground human rights organizations in Mexico and Central America. Justice in Motion makes sure that wherever migrants go, their rights will follow.

The Opportunity:

Justice in Motion seeks a passionate and knowledgeable leader to serve as the organization's first Policy Director. Reporting to the Executive Director and serving as a key member of Justice in Motion's leadership team, the Policy Director understands the U.S. labor issues that connect with immigration, and regularly participates in groups that are working to effect change in transnational labor and immigration policy. The Policy Director manages the Policy and Advocacy Manager.

The Ideal Profile:

The ideal candidate meets these requirements:

- Legal and policy expertise in immigrant rights. This is someone with experience litigating workers' rights cases (ideally including temporary foreign worker cases), representing immigrants in asylum or other forms of immigration relief, and advocating for federal policy changes on these topics. A J.D. from an accredited U.S. law school is strongly preferred to reflect deep knowledge of the technical, legal aspects of our work.
- A systems thinker. This is someone who understands the direct impact of policy decisions, and can zoom out to connect the dots, and find opportunities to fight for more effective and humane policies at the federal (and sometimes state) level.
- A natural builder. This person has gravitated toward roles that didn't exist before. They have a start-up mentality, creating things with minimal resources and direction, doing their own administrative tasks, and love change and taking action.
- Excels at management, both upward and team, especially in a remote environment. This is someone who understands the universe in which an Executive Director operates and how to maximize their time to get results. This person is both direct and respectful, and naturally gains the trust of leadership. They also have experience managing staff and know how to engage people's strengths toward the goals and give clear action steps and coaching so they can contribute effectively.
- An effective project manager. This is someone who regularly designs and runs several projects simultaneously and uses best practices and tools such as Asana to keep everything moving forward, and to involve the right people at the right times.
- A proactive communicator. This is a person who has excelled working on dispersed and remote teams before and understands the value of over-communicating. This person takes the lead in making conversations happen, and always strives to have the right people at the table to give input.
- Cross-cultural experience. This is someone who has spent significant time living, working, or studying with people from many cultures and within diverse communities, and thrives in those environments. They enjoy connecting with a wide variety of people, and easily demonstrate curiosity, empathy, and tact.
- Spanish fluency is strongly preferred, though not required.

Responsibilities:

This is a new position, and the duties will evolve over time. The primary areas of responsibility include:

Federal Policy Strategy and Advocacy:

- Collaborate with the Executive Director and the Policy and Advocacy Manager to develop short- and long-term strategy for Policy work at JiM
- Advance U.S. federal policy that aligns with Justice in Motion's mission (e.g., labor, immigration, and civil rights with portable justice elements), such as:
 - Representing the organization at the federal level to achieve increased transparency and improved governance of temporary foreign work visa programs through legislative and administrative efforts
 - Representing the organization at the federal level to bring cross-border and country of origin perspective to U.S. immigration policy issues, such as asylum, into legislative and administrative efforts
- Develop and implement projects to advance our policy goals of portable justice, such as promoting a research agenda, drafting papers and reports, gathering evidence, and leading other initiatives to increase knowledge and understanding of temporary foreign worker issues
- Active engagement in coalitions in the U.S. and abroad, including regular participation in conferences, convenings, and similar gatherings
- Regular coordination and collaboration with the Communications Manager to take advantage of opportunities to deepen public awareness, through media exposure and op-eds

Defender Network Connections to Policy Efforts:

- Bring the Defender Network voice into conversations about U.S. foreign policy that has direct cross-border implications that impact the countries of origin
- Provide regular updates (trainings, blogs, etc.) to Defenders to keep them and other allies up to date on our relevant policy efforts
- Engage the Defender Network to influence U.S. policies that affect migrants, such as labor and asylum regulations

Country of Origin Policy:

- Develop country of origin policy strategy, in partnership with the Defender Network, and develop project plans
- Coordinate and drive occasional, mission-aligned policy work in countries of origin, in conjunction with the Defender Network (e.g. utilizing foreign laws or advancing country of origin policies to protect workers or increase access to portable justice)

Administration and Management:

- Supervise the Policy and Advocacy Manager and oversee growth and development

Neighborhood Legal Services Program ("NLSP") is an equal opportunity employer, committed to inclusive hiring and dedicated diversity in our staff. It is the policy of NLSP that no employee or applicant for employment or services will be discriminated against because of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, disability, sexual orientation, political affiliation, family responsibilities or family status, veteran's status, or any other basis prohibited by law, including the D.C. Human Rights Act and Language Access Act.

NLSP thrives on our diversity and we strongly encourage women, persons of color, LGBTQ individuals, veterans, persons with disabilities, returning citizens, and persons from other underrepresented groups to apply.

DIRECTOR NEIGHBORHOOD LEGAL SERVICES PROGRAM

Who We Are:

In 1964, NLSP pioneered the concept of a law office rooted in the neighborhoods that it serves. An LSC-funded non-profit, civil legal services law firm, NLSP provides free legal information, advice, and representation to low-income District of Columbia residents. We help with problems involving housing, family, domestic violence, public benefits, barriers to employment (Including record sealing), consumer issues, elder law and other legal problems affecting economic security of low-income residents. We provide direct services and work with pro bono partners. Our neighborhood-based, service delivery model -- which includes three offices in Wards 5, 7 and 8 -- allows us to bring dedicated legal services attorneys and enthusiastic pro bono lawyers into low-income communities across the city to provide legal help while they learn first-hand the myriad, daily challenges faced by residents living in poverty.

NLSP has established landmark precedents, which have retained their vitality and relevance. The organization builds its work on strong partnerships with community-based organizations and seeks to achieve lasting change for its clients and their communities by using a full range of advocacy tools. Its diverse, multi-lingual and passionate staff embrace an explicitly anti-poverty mission and share a deep commitment to securing meaningful access to justice.

Advancing our Social & Racial Justice Mandate:

In 2018, NLSP received a Meyer Foundation capacity building grant to educate our staff and board of directors on the need for eradicating racism with our communities. As a new pillar in our strategic plan, our challenge is to determine and execute measurable goals.

Additionally, NLSP has partnered with Covington & Burling LLP to establish the Thomas S. Williamson Jr. Endowment Fund to assist in funding the LAD position toward the advancement of organizational social change. The Endowment Fund commemorates the 50th anniversary of Covington's relationship with NLSP and celebrates the legacy of Covington's late partner and former D.C. Bar President Thomas S. Williamson Jr., whose illustrious career included working as a rotating associate at NLSP and serving on NLSP's Board of Directors.

HOMELESS PERSONS REPRESENTATION PROJECT, INC.

Our Story:

The Homeless Persons Representation Project (HPRP) works to end homelessness in Maryland by providing free legal services, including advice, counsel, education, representation, and advocacy, to people who are experiencing homelessness or at risk of homelessness. HPRP's staff and volunteers pursue this mission by offering legal services in shelters, soup kitchens, welfare offices, community centers, and on the street. It has also led or co-led landmark state and local policy initiatives such as the HOME Act, the Ending Youth Homelessness Act, and legislation to reform Maryland's expungement and public benefit programs. Driven by the belief in the power of people to determine their own solutions to systemic issues affecting their lives, HPRP actively engages persons with lived experience in advocacy efforts to improve tenant rights, end housing discrimination, end youth homelessness, and decriminalize homelessness.

HPRP's office in Montgomery County serves clients experiencing homelessness and housing insecurity in Montgomery County and Prince George's County through community-based legal clinics and direct representation in criminal record expungement, eviction defense, and veterans' benefits cases. HPRP's Montgomery County/Prince George's County Office participates in coalitions and engages in systemic advocacy to prohibit housing discrimination based on criminal justice involvement, ending youth homelessness, and decriminalization of homelessness.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR PUBLIC JUSTICE CENTER

About The Organization:

Founded in 1985 and headquartered in Baltimore, Maryland, the Public Justice Center is a leader in public interest law reform, pursuing systemic change to build a just society.

Using legal advocacy tools – litigation and client representation; legislative, administrative, and appellate advocacy; know-your-rights education; and collaboration – we address the causes of poverty and racial inequity. We work in coalition with legal advocates, direct service providers, policy advocates, community organizing groups, and law firms to challenge injustice, and we contribute our legal knowledge and skills to support initiatives identified by communities and that enhance community members' power.

The PJC chooses projects and cases that will make a significant impact on systems, laws, and policies. Current projects include advocating on behalf of families needing healthcare and benefits, low-wage workers, low-income tenants, and students facing barriers to school enrollment and academic achievement; advocating to reform pretrial detention; using appellate cases to establish good law in poverty and civil rights cases; and coordinating a national coalition that works to establish a right to counsel in basic human needs civil cases.

We know that in order to effectively dismantle systemic barriers of oppression, racial equity must be incorporated in our projects, cases, and strategies. To that end, PJC staff have embarked on a two-year training program to build the team's knowledge of institutional, cultural, and systemic racism. In addition, the staff formed a Race Equity Team to coordinate, develop, and facilitate ongoing staff training and to keep racial equity at the center of the work. We are seeking talent to join our team!

The Immigration Justice Campaign is a collaboration between the American Immigration Council and the American Immigration Lawyers Association. Finally, the Coordinator is tasked with keeping track of data on volunteers (including logging interactions and assisting with the team's data tracking needs) and reporting out on volunteer engagement data.

As with all positions at the Council, this position requires commitment to the Council's mission.

- Properly orient placed volunteers and set expectations of their participation across Campaign partners.
- Work with Pro Bono Coordination team and Legal Support Team to ensure materials and placement processes are accurate and updated as needed.
- Create and execute quarterly law firm recruitment & engagement plans to a) keep firms actively working on cases engaged, b) encourage firms that are in our network but not actively working on cases to take cases, and c) add new firms to our network.

- Organize Hill briefings, webinars, presentations, and other educational materials on the rights and needs of unaccompanied and separated immigrant children with disabilities

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR RETHINK

ReThink is a 501(c)(3) community-based non-profit organization that works to prevent sexual violence, with a particular focus on working with adolescent boys. After six years of delivering quality, evidence-based, trauma-informed consent and healthy masculinity programming throughout the Northeast United States on a mostly part-time basis, ReThink is now seeking a first full-time Executive Director ("ED") to build and lead a team that can expand capacity and impact and help ReThink transition from a startup to a stable, non-profit organization and permanent resource in the Washington, DC area.

About ReThink:

ReThink, a 501(c)(3) community-based non-profit organization, is working to build a world free of sexual violence. Founded in 2013, ReThink is now seeking its first full-time Executive Director ("ED") to build and lead a team that can expand capacity and impact and help ReThink transition from a startup to a stable, non-profit organization and permanent resource in the Washington, DC area.

Sexual violence--and the underlying cultural beliefs and norms that make it possible—are learned behaviors. With a focus on adolescence, ReThink helps communities recognize all of the various power dynamics that undermine the practice of consent and build cultural responses that advance healthy, safe relationships in their stead. After six years of delivering quality, evidence-based, trauma-informed consent and healthy masculinity programming throughout the Northeast United States on a mostly part-time basis, ReThink is excited to expand its mission with the guidance of new leadership.

We believe that marginalized communities are most likely to experience sexual violence, and they are at the center of ReThink's programming; our conversations about consent are just as likely to involve conversations about racism, homophobia, transphobia, class, ageism, and disability as they are to involve sex or romance. Recognizing that American prisons are some of the most sexually violent places on earth, ReThink advocates for an anti-carceral approach to sexual violence rooted in preventing it before the harm is done in the first place.

Though ReThink envisions providing long-term support to all individuals and institutions who work with adolescents, our early-stage development has been focused on delivering trainings in educational institutions, and ReThink has developed a reputation as providing thoughtful, trauma-informed facilitation and support. ReThink has reached thousands of adolescents and hundreds of adults in the Washington, DC area with trauma-informed workshops that build concrete consent skills, uplift healthy masculinities, and dismantle harmful social norms.

About the Position:

ReThink's next ED must build on this foundation to help ReThink meet a growing demand for its services while also managing the day-to-day operations and all key aspects of the organization.

This is a great opportunity for someone who cares deeply about the mission, but also wants to grow and develop their skills as a leader. A successful ED will help expand ReThink's program and potentially its staff and support network. Individuals who thrive working independently and achieving tough goals are encouraged to apply.

In particular, the ED will:

Lead ReThink's Fundraising Efforts:

- Build and sustain a strategy for new and existing donor revenue streams, including developing a powerful digital fundraising presence; identifying, cultivating, and soliciting major individual donors and institutional funders; and maintaining and improving relationships with relevant foundations
- Expand upon ReThink's self-sustaining, fee-for-service consent training program by identifying and cultivating new potential clients in line with ReThink's core mission

Facilitate, Train, and Organize:

- Deliver and/or oversee the delivery of ReThink's core training curriculum both to adults who work with adolescents, and to adolescents themselves
- Provide ongoing support for client institutions and individuals as they implement the ReThink program
- Develop new, innovative curricula and programs
- Co-Lead and support the ReThinking Masculinity Program in cooperation with the Program's Partner Organizations

Strategize and Develop:

- In consultation with the Board of Directors, build and execute medium and long-term strategies for organizational growth and development
- Lead ReThink's communications efforts, including placement of Op-Eds and speaking to media

The next ED absolutely must have:

- A personal commitment to the practice of enthusiastic consent in all of their relationships, professional and personal, romantic and platonic
- Demonstrated experience as well as a high degree of comfort building a non-foundation-based (i.e. digital, individual, and/or institutional) fundraising program from early-stage development
- A demonstrated ability to build meaningful relationships with a wide variety of people holding any number of intersecting marginalized identities; fluency in anti-oppressive theory, practice, and language, especially in regards to race, class, sex, and gender identity
- A high degree of comfort with facilitating and training diverse groups, both small and large
- The problem-solving and critical-thinking skills necessary to take on the various challenges of directing a small non-profit organization as the sole staffer; a happily self-starting and self-directing approach to their work

The ideal candidate will also have:

- Excellent writing and communicating skills
- Excellent organizational/administrative skills, with familiarity in maintaining operations and budgets
- Demonstrated experience and skill in community organizing
- Demonstrated leadership skills
- Experience providing trauma-informed trainings, facilitation, or counseling

Other Details:

This position is located in the Washington, DC metropolitan area, but is open to applicants outside of this area as telework is standard. Work hours are generally flexible but will sometimes include some night and weekend work. Periodic travel may be required as in-person trainings are expected to resume in late 2021 or early 2022, depending on the progression of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Compensation:

Salary: $70,000/year. Health insurance provided, as well as paid vacation and paid sick leave.

POLICY DIRECTOR
JUSTICE IN MOTION

About Justice in Motion:

Justice in Motion protects migrant rights by ensuring justice across borders.

In the face of overwhelming legal and practical barriers, many migrants who have suffered exploitation or abuse at the hands of employers or government officials give up their rights after leaving the United States. Other migrants who flee abuse, violence, and persecution are unable to remain in safety due to lack of evidence to support their claims.

These migrants need "portable justice" - the right and ability to access justice across borders. Justice in Motion is dedicated to ensuring portable justice through legal, educational, and policy initiatives in the U.S., Canada,

Mexico, and Central America. Essential to this transnational model is our Defender Network, a unique partnership of on-the-ground human rights organizations in Mexico and Central America. Justice in Motion makes sure that wherever migrants go, their rights will follow.

The Opportunity:

Justice in Motion seeks a passionate and knowledgeable leader to serve as the organization's first Policy Director. Reporting to the Executive Director and serving as a key member of Justice in Motion's leadership team, the Policy Director understands the U.S. labor issues that connect with immigration, and regularly participates in groups that are working to effect change in transnational labor and immigration policy. The Policy Director manages the Policy and Advocacy Manager.

The Ideal Profile:

The ideal candidate meets these requirements:

- Legal and policy expertise in immigrant rights. This is someone with experience litigating workers' rights cases (ideally including temporary foreign worker cases), representing immigrants in asylum or other forms of immigration relief, and advocating for federal policy changes on these topics. A J.D. from an accredited U.S. law school is strongly preferred to reflect deep knowledge of the technical, legal aspects of our work.
- A systems thinker. This is someone who understands the direct impact of policy decisions, and can zoom out to connect the dots, and find opportunities to fight for more effective and humane policies at the federal (and sometimes state) level.
- A natural builder. This person has gravitated toward roles that didn't exist before. They have a start-up mentality, creating things with minimal resources and direction, doing their own administrative tasks, and love change and taking action.
- Excels at management, both upward and team, especially in a remote environment. This is someone who understands the universe in which an Executive Director operates and how to maximize their time to get results. This person is both direct and respectful, and naturally gains the trust of leadership. They also have experience managing staff and know how to engage people's strengths toward the goals and give clear action steps and coaching so they can contribute effectively.
- An effective project manager. This is someone who regularly designs and runs several projects simultaneously and uses best practices and tools such as Asana to keep everything moving forward, and to involve the right people at the right times.
- A proactive communicator. This is a person who has excelled working on dispersed and remote teams before and understands the value of over-communicating. This person takes the lead in making conversations happen, and always strives to have the right people at the table to give input.
- Cross-cultural experience: This is someone who has spent significant time living, working, or studying with people from many cultures and within diverse communities, and thrives in those environments. They enjoy connecting with a wide variety of people, and easily demonstrate curiosity, empathy, and tact.
- Spanish fluency is strongly preferred, though not required.

Responsibilities:

This is a new position, and the duties will evolve over time. The primary areas of responsibility include:

Federal Policy Strategy and Advocacy:

- Collaborate with the Executive Director and the Policy and Advocacy Manager to develop short- and long-term strategy for Policy work at JiM

- Advance U.S. federal policy that aligns with Justice in Motion's mission (e.g., labor, immigration, and civil rights with portable justice elements), such as:
- Representing the organization at the federal level to achieve increased transparency and improved governance of temporary foreign work visa programs through legislative and administrative efforts
- Representing the organization at the federal level to bring cross-border and country of origin perspective to U.S. immigration policy issues, such as asylum, into legislative and administrative efforts
- Develop and implement projects to advance our policy goals of portable justice, such as promoting a research agenda, drafting papers and reports, gathering evidence, and leading other initiatives to increase knowledge and understanding of temporary foreign worker issues
- Active engagement in coalitions in the U.S. and abroad, including regular participation in conferences, convenings, and similar gatherings
- Regular coordination and collaboration with the Communications Manager to take advantage of opportunities to deepen public awareness, through media exposure and op-eds

Defender Network Connections to Policy Efforts:

- Bring the Defender Network voice into conversations about U.S. foreign policy that has direct cross-border implications that impact the countries of origin
- Provide regular updates (trainings, blogs, etc.) to Defenders to keep them and other allies up to date on our relevant policy efforts
- Engage the Defender Network to influence U.S. policies that affect migrants, such as labor and asylum regulations

Country of Origin Policy:

- Develop country of origin policy strategy, in partnership with the Defender Network, and develop project plans
- Coordinate and drive occasional, mission-aligned policy work in countries of origin, in conjunction with the Defender Network (e.g. utilizing foreign laws or advancing country of origin policies to protect workers or increase access to portable justice)

Administration and Management:

- Supervise the Policy and Advocacy Manager and oversee growth and development
- Serve on the Management Team and participate actively in organizational strategy, planning, and decision-making
- Contribute to and participate in cross-functional activities and events

Salary and Benefits:

Salary is competitive and negotiable depending on experience. Justice in Motion provides a comprehensive benefits package and a generous amount of leave.

How to Apply:

Justice in Motion values diversity in our workforce and encourages candidates of diverse backgrounds to apply. Please email a resume and cover letter that describes how you meet the requirements of this position to apply@justiceinmotion.org; in the subject line, please write: "Policy Director -- [Your Name]."

Candidates will be considered on a rolling basis. No phone calls please.

FELLOWSHIP SPONSOR

NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT LAW PROJECT

The National Employment Law Project (NELP) invites rising third-year law students, judicial clerks, or other qualified recent law graduates to apply for NELP sponsorship for public interest fellowship projects to begin in Fall 2022. Sponsorship will enable the applicant to submit proposals for consideration to the Skadden Fellowship Foundation, Equal Justice Works Fellowship Program, and similar programs, including fellowships offered by the applicant's law school. The legal fellow would be based in NELP's offices in New York City. This position offers an opportunity to join a committed and high-impact team at NELP that, in partnership with national and grassroots advocates, is working to end structural racism, reduce inequality and build worker power by improving economic opportunity and security for low-wage and unemployed workers, especially workers of color, immigrants and women.

About National Employment Law Project:

Founded in 1969, the nonprofit National Employment Law Project (NELP) is a leading advocacy organization with the mission to build a just and inclusive economy where all workers have expansive rights and thrive in good jobs. Together with local, state, and national partners, NELP advances its mission through transformative legal and policy solutions, research, capacity building, and communications. Our victories over the last decade have impacted the lives of an estimated 100 million workers and their families. We lead and collaborate in fights for higher pay and just benefits, secure and safe jobs, and support at each stage in a worker's life. We build worker power and we challenge rules that allow corporate harm and undue power. We are transforming precarious work by raising the floor so that every job is a good job and everyone who wants a job can have one. Together over the next decade, we will build Black, immigrant worker power and advance transformative solutions to achieve racial and economic justice. For more information, read our annual reports and explore our website: www.nelp.org.

NELP has a team of 45 staff people based across offices in New York City, Washington D.C., and Berkeley, CA, with a 12-person Board of Directors, an annual budget of $14M, and hundreds of partners in the field with whom we work to further our mission.

What You will Do:

NELP will work with the aspiring legal fellow to develop a project that supports NELP's legal campaign work in a number of possible program areas, listed below. NELP would consider a project that advances NELP's worker health and safety agenda, supports the burgeoning movements for "just cause" employment protections, or one that promotes the inclusion of historically-excluded groups of workers due to racism, including home care workers, tipped workers, those misclassified as "independent contractors," and workers currently working for zero-to-subminimum-pay due to their incarceration or detention, participation in a rehabilitation or homelessness assistance program.

The fellow's project may employ a variety of strategies, including:

- Providing legal, policy, and strategic assistance for campaigns, including drafting legislation, legal analyses, and policy briefs;
- Participating in strategic litigation, including with amicus support, related to wage and hour, other labor standards issues, or federal administrative actions;
- Drafting reports, op-eds, and educational materials and engaging in strategic communications;
- Coordinating networks of advocates to develop and advance policy campaigns.

Who You Are:

- You have (or will have, before the start of the fellowship) a J.D. degree and relevant bar admission.
- You are committed to building your racial equity competencies and centering your role in an analysis and understanding of how race and power shape systems in our society and culture and are continuously learning, reflecting, and growing.
- You are a skilled written and oral communicator and have enthusiasm for learning how to engage with the media.
- You build relationships that foster trust and transparency across lines of difference by listening deeply, and receive and offer direct, honest feedback with compassion and clarity of purpose.
- You are self-aware, curious, respectful, and relational and have strong interpersonal skills fostering a sense of purpose and community and have high standards for holding yourself and others accountable.
- You operate with a commitment to excellence, integrity, diplomacy, and camaraderie.
- You have demonstrated commitment to workers' rights, economic justice, and race equity and in particular to the issues of the project's identified community.

Start Date, Location, Compensation and Benefits:

This position will be based in our New York City office. This position is in NELP's bargaining unit, represented by National Organization of Legal Service Workers, UAW Local 2320. NELP will supplement the fellowship award according to the fellow's placement on NELP's collective bargaining scale. Classification and compensation for NELP bargaining unit positions is commensurate with relevant experience and education and based on NELP's collectively bargained scales. Based on our Union scale, the salary range for a legal fellow with 0-3 years of relevant experience is $75,500 to $80,900. Compensation also includes an excellent comprehensive benefits package, including full-coverage family health insurance, a medical reimbursement plan, generous vacation and sick leave, contribution from employer to a retirement plan, and a student loan repayment assistance for qualifying participants.

FELLOWSHIP SPONSOR
LEGAL AID SOCIETY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The Legal Aid Society of the District of Columbia seeks a candidate to sponsor for an Equal Justice Works and/or Skadden Fellowship to commence in the fall of 2022. Legal Aid has successfully sponsored both Equal Justice Works and Skadden Fellows in the past, and our staff includes numerous current and former fellows. Legal Aid will assist the applicant we select in developing a project proposal to present to the fellowship programs.

As the District's oldest and largest civil legal services program, Legal Aid's mission is to make justice real—in individual and systemic ways—for persons living in poverty in the District of Columbia. Our clients are individuals and families, predominantly of color, in need of legal assistance in areas ranging from housing and domestic violence law to public benefits and consumer law. Legal Aid attorneys provide our clients with high-quality, zealous legal representation, while also seeking systemic solutions to the problems they face, through litigation, court reform, and legislative and agency advocacy.

Project (or Issue Area) Proposal:

Legal Aid is seeking proposals for projects based in one of our four existing practice areas or a proposal seeking innovative ways to address client needs across all of our issue areas. If the candidate does not have a proposal, they should indicate which unit(s) they would like to work with in developing a proposal. Successful proposals will address the continuing racially disparate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on the District's Black and Brown communities as well as underlying racial disparities in income, wealth, and/or access to health care.

Qualifications:

Applicants must qualify for sponsorship by the Skadden and/or Equal Justice Works fellowship programs, which generally require that applicants be law students entering their third year or recent graduates who expect to complete a judicial clerkship in the summer of 2022. Applicants should have a commitment to a career in the public interest and a desire to work in a collaborative work environment. Additional qualifications include:

- Strong commitment to social, economic, and racial justice.
- Excellent legal research and writing skills.
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills, and comfort working with colleagues across departments.
- Strong organizational skills with excellent attention to detail, and ability to manage multiple assignments on different timelines.
- Ability to work skillfully, both independently and collaboratively with teams.

Membership or eligibility for membership in the D.C. Bar is required.

To Apply:

Legal Aid values an inclusive, diverse workplace and encourages applications from interested persons from diverse backgrounds of any race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, physical or mental disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, personal appearance, family responsibilities, matriculation, political affiliation, genetic information, or any other legally protected status. We strongly encourage applications from people with personal experience with the criminal justice system and/or with lived experiences in the communities we serve. Interested persons are encouraged to apply immediately and should submit a letter of interest and resume through our online portal. Applications will be reviewed as they are submitted.

The selected candidate will work with Legal Aid on fellowship applications to be submitted to the Skadden Foundation and/or Equal Justice Works in the fall of 2020. The fellowship, if awarded, will begin in the fall of 2022 and is anticipated to last two years.

More about the Legal Aid Society of the District of Columbia:

Legal Aid, founded in 1932, provides free civil legal services to persons living in poverty in the District of Columbia. The largest part of our work is composed of direct representation in housing, family/domestic violence, public benefits, and consumer law. We also work on immigration law matters and help individuals with the collateral consequences of their involvement with the criminal justice system. From the experiences of our clients, we identify opportunities for law reform, public policy advocacy, and systemic reform litigation. We have grown to a staff of more than 90 attorneys and staff, serving some 10,000 DC residents annually through direct legal services, and tens of thousands more through systemic advocacy and litigation. FELLOWSHIP SPONSOR TZEDEK DC

About Tzedek DC:

Tzedek DC's mission is to safeguard the legal rights of low-income DC residents dealing with often unjust, abusive, and illegal debt collection practices, as well as other consumer protection problems like credit reporting issues, identity theft, and predatory lending. Launched in 2017 as a full-time public interest center at the UDC David A. Tzedek DC seeks a Fellow to partner with on a proposal to address the medical debt issue through three different means—direct legal services, policy reform, and community education. This should include representing individual households in and on the brink of poverty who are sued for medical debt, or who have a medical debt entry that is harming their credit report and engaging in systemic policy reform to mitigate systems that allow the crisis to persist. Tzedek DC will partner with the selected candidate to develop application materials to fellowships.

The ideal candidate will possess the following qualifications:

- A demonstrated commitment to public interest work, particularly for civil legal services, including but not limited to, consumer matters, debt matters, or issues relating to victims of crime

- Strong academic performance, including excellent research and writing skills

- Spanish and/or Amharic skills preferred (but not required)

The application should include:

1. Cover letter
2. Resume
3. Name and contact information for two references
4. A relevant and substantive writing sample of original work product of no more than 5 pages in length

The attorney will join other Farmworker Project staff to provide representation to agricultural worker clients in civil matters, with a focus on worker rights. The Farmworker Project attorneys frequently litigate cases in federal court and represent clients in administrative agency matters. We seek both developing (0+ years) and more experienced candidates. All interested applicants who meet the qualifications are encouraged to apply.

A new hire may receive some training in a physical office which will require some in-office time. We require face masks and social distancing in all Legal Action offices.

Legal Action of Wisconsin:

Legal Action is a civil legal aid firm that provides free legal services to low income people who would be otherwise denied access to legal justice. Legal Action is one of Wisconsin's largest law firms, with six offices in Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, Oshkosh, La Crosse, and Racine. Legal Action represents clients in five core practice areas: public benefits, housing, family, barriers to employment, and consumer law. Some of our special projects focus on representing farmworkers, veterans, elders, victims of crime, and victims of human trafficking. Our staff have a commitment to legal aid work and providing high-quality and aggressive representation to change our clients' lives and impact the law for everyone.

Legal Action believes that equal justice under law can only be achieved through the collaboration of a diverse staff. We strongly encourage applications from women, people of color, people who identify as LGBTQIA+, people with disabilities, and people with life experiences or educational backgrounds that add to the firm's diversity and our capacity to provide high-quality legal aid.

Farmworker Project:

The Farmworker Project is Legal Action of Wisconsin's statewide initiative to ensure that migrant, seasonal, and year-round agricultural workers receive the wages they have earned, live and work in a safe environment, are recruited lawfully and fairly, and have access to public benefit programs. Potential clients include: a migrant worker who travels to Wisconsin from another state to work in food processing, a seasonal worker who does corn detasseling in July and August, or a year-round worker who milks cows at a Wisconsin dairy farm. Farmworker Project staff currently consists of a non-attorney project manager, two attorneys, and a paralegal scheduled to begin in September of 2021. Summer staff and interns are also an integral part of our team.

Farmworkers face historical and structural barriers that make it difficult for them to access legal and community services. Additionally, these barriers lead to unique legal problems that agricultural workers must confront, including:

- Failure to be paid minimum wage for their work or not being paid at all, among other worker rights issues.
- Recruitment abuses and unexpected changes in the employment contract.
- Substandard health and safety conditions in workplace and employer-provided housing.
- Confusion about immigration status, immigration laws, and governmental procedures.
- Denial of equal access to public benefits, services, and accommodations.

Alongside legal representation, the Farmworker Project conducts extensive outreach to agricultural workers throughout Wisconsin. Outreach is the primary way that the Farmworker Project gets in contact with agricultural workers. Outreach may take place at farmworker housing, in community education presentations, through social media and radio, and includes the development of outreach materials like flyers and videos.

Key Responsibilities:

- Farmworker Project attorneys are responsible to provide high quality, zealous representation of agricultural worker clients in individual service cases, and in high-impact litigation cases on systemic issues affecting farmworkers. Areas of focus are employment law, particularly enforcement of rights under the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Worker Protection Act, and other state and federal laws providing specific protections for agricultural workers.
- Additionally, a Farmworker Project staff attorney will represent agricultural workers in Administrative Law matters, in areas such as employment law, public benefit eligibility, worker's compensation, and immigration law.

- Farmworker Project staff attorneys respond to initial intakes, and where necessary, make appropriate referrals to other agencies.
- Experienced Farmworker attorneys may mentor other Farmworker attorneys, interns, volunteers or other advocates.
- Staff attorneys must stay current with the areas of law that pertain to the agricultural worker community as the law changes and develops.
- Staff attorneys are expected to share responsibility for the development and maintenance of good working relationships with community groups, as well as with state and local bar associations.
- Staff attorneys will be called upon to provide training and other assistance to members of Legal Action's Volunteer Lawyer Project.
- Staff attorneys are responsible for serving on at least one of our Priority Committees: Housing; Employment; Consumer; Public Benefits; and Family.
- On occasion, approximately 1 time per month during the summer months, a Farmworker Project staff attorney may be required to travel to conduct outreach to clients and community partners. For attorneys without prior experience representing farmworkers, additional outreach may be required during the training period. In addition to outreach, occasional evening and weekend work may be required. All outreach visits will follow strict COVID-19 protocols.
- Staff attorneys may be assigned additional duties from occasionally, as the needs of agricultural worker clients vary.

Salary:

Starting salary depends upon experience and qualifications and is determined by Legal Action's attorney salary scale. (In our Madison office, the salary is determined by the United Legal Workers' collective bargaining agreement.) Currently, under our attorney salary scale, an attorney with 0-1 years of experience would receive an annual salary of $45,727 for a 100% full-time position. An attorney with 5 years of experience practicing law would earn a salary of $52,347. An attorney with 10 years of experience would earn a salary of $58,967. Salaries are not negotiable and will follow this scale. In addition, the position generally receives an annual step increase, subject to approval of the Board of Directors. Legal Action offers opportunities for advancement and attorneys with supervisory responsibilities receive a management stipend.

Candidates must have lived in the United States for at least three of the past five years. The three-year period is cumulative, not necessarily consecutive. Federal or military employees, or dependents of federal or military employees serving overseas, are excepted from this requirement. This is a Department security requirement which is waived only for extreme circumstances and handled on a case-by-case basis.

Veterans: There is no formal rating system for applying veterans' preference to attorney appointments in the excepted service; however, the Department of Justice considers veterans' preference eligibility as a positive factor in attorney hiring. Applicants eligible for veterans' preference must include that information in their cover letter or resume and attach supporting documentation (e.g., the DD 214, Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty and other supporting documentation) to their submissions. Although the "point" system is not used, per se, applicants eligible to claim 10-point preference must submit Standard Form (SF) 15, Application for 10-Point Veteran Preference, and submit the supporting documentation required for the specific type of preference claimed (visit the OPM website, www.opm.gov/forms/pdf_fill/SF15.pdf for a copy of SF 15, which lists the types of 10-point preferences and the required supporting document(s). UNIVERSAL REPRESENTATION STAFF ATTORNEY,
ROCKY MOUNTAIN IMMIGRANT ADVOCACY NETWORK
WESTMINSTER, COLORADO

The Rocky Mountain Immigrant Advocacy Network (RMIAN) is a nonprofit organization that provides free immigration legal services to individuals in immigration detention and to children and their families throughout Colorado. RMIAN's Detention Program provides legal and social service support to individuals held at the privately-owned civil immigration detention facility located in Aurora, Colorado. RMIAN's Children's Program provides free legal representation to immigrant children and their families who have been victims of abuse, neglect, abandonment, trafficking and violence through in-house representation and referral to our network of volunteer attorneys. While housed within RMIAN's Detention Program, this position will accept referrals from RMIAN's Children's Program in order to serve Denver residents subjected to immigration removal proceedings.

RMIAN has an immediate opening for a full-time Universal Representation Staff Attorney to represent clients detained at the Aurora Contract Detention Facility, as well as non-detained children and families before the Denver Immigration Court. This attorney will join RMIAN's team of attorneys, social workers, and paralegals devoted to supporting people ensnared in the immigration system who, without this program, would otherwise face the immigration court without legal counsel.

The Universal Representation Staff Attorney will provide direct representation to individuals in immigration proceedings in Colorado. The majority of this attorney's caseload will involve Denver residents detained at the Aurora detention center, through funding provided by the Denver Immigrant Legal Services Fund. However, this attorney also will represent non-detained individuals in immigration proceedings as well. In 2017, Denver Mayor Michael B. Hancock signed an executive order allocating funding to support noncitizens detained by ICE at the Aurora facility who are residents of the City and County of Denver whose incomes are 200% or less of the federal poverty guidelines. The program is part of a national movement called the SAFE Initiative (Safety & Fairness for Everyone), which is an innovative collaboration between governments, advocates, and legal service providers working in unison to create a public defender system for immigrants facing deportation. This position is meant for a dedicated advocate – someone who has expertise in immigration law, particularly removal defense (preferably in a detained setting), and who wishes to engage in broader policy and advocacy efforts to expand universal representation across the State of Colorado. This work is particularly exciting given Colorado just became one of the first states in the nation to create a state-wide immigrant legal defense fund.

Ideal Candidate:

- Is an attorney who has a solid base of substantive legal knowledge of immigration law with a focus on removal defense and a strong commitment to immigrant justice – this person knows
- how to run an immigration removal case in a detained setting, enjoys creative lawyering, can explain the complicated process in an easily digestible manner to clients and community members and is passionate about RMIAN's work and mission.
- Understands how to prioritize tasks with little guidance. The ideal candidate is organized, efficient, and has a keen eye for detail. This person enjoys handling multiple cases running in parallel and is able to triage in order to meet time-sensitive deadlines.
- Has excellent legal research and writing skills.
- Is team-oriented and works in collaboration with RMIAN staff members with a focus on advancing universal representation throughout Colorado.
- Is skilled at building rapport with clients and their support networks. Demonstrated cultural competency is essential for serving RMIAN's diverse client population.
- Easily forms trusting relationships with RMIAN staff members. Has the ability to comfortably and appropriately maintain and navigate relationships with governmental agencies, nonprofit providers, community partners and other stakeholders. The ideal candidate acts with courtesy, patience and poise, is confident speaking to groups, and is excited to share RMIAN's mission with others.

Responsibilities:

Direct Representation (90%)

- Maintain a robust caseload in support of detained clients seeking relief from removal and/or release from immigration detention (including representation before the Immigration Court, Board of Immigration Appeals, U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), and other federal agencies)
- Create and implement systems to enhance efficiency of legal services specific to RMIAN's universal representation program

Outreach, Community Education, and Development Efforts (10%)

- Participate in RMIAN's outreach, community education, and development efforts
- Engage in broader advocacy efforts, working with RMIAN staff and partners to highlight the positive impact of universal representation on our communities
- Foster strong relationships with clients willing to engage in campaigns to promote public awareness of RMIAN's work and its impact on people who seek lasting protection from deportation in the United States
- Possible supervision of attorneys and/or law student interns
- Required skills and experience:
 - Admission to any state bar
 - Experience representing clients in immigration proceedings, ideally before the Executive Office for Immigration Review and in detained settings
 - Professional-level English & Spanish fluency – both oral and written
 - Deep dedication to immigration legal services, universal representation, and commitment to working with vulnerable populations, in particular individuals in detention and children/families

Location:

This position is based out of RMIAN's office located in Westminster, Colorado but requires frequent travel to the Aurora Contract Detention Facility in Aurora, Colorado. Clients are represented before the Aurora Immigration Court, Denver Immigration Court, USCIS office located in Centennial, and possibly before state courts in the Denver metro-region.

RMIAN's operations are primarily remote during the COVID-19 pandemic, but subject to change.

Compensation:

This is a full-time, salaried, exempt position. Salary is commensurate with experience; for less experienced attorneys, the salary range is $50,000–$56,000, and for attorneys with experience, the range is between $56,000–$62,000. Salary includes a generous benefits package, including excellent health insurance (100% covered by RMIAN), life insurance, professional liability insurance, short-term disability insurance, eligibility to participate in RMIAN's Simple IRA retirement plan (RMIAN matches 3%), and flexible spending plan. RMIAN provides professional development opportunities and paid vacation time and sick leave. RMIAN also provides a sabbatical policy after five years of employment.

How to Apply:

If this profile calls to you, please send a tailored, authentic cover letter that explains (1) why this mission excites you; and (2) why this particular role is a great fit for you – along with your resume, writing sample, and list of references - to hr@rmian.org.

Applicants are encouraged to apply as early as possible. Interviews will be conducted on a rolling basis until the position is filled.
